7 Dead in CSF Shooting

A massacre, unparalleled in Orange County history left nine persons dead or dying in an early morning shooting rampage which disturbed the usually austere quiet of the library on the campus at California State University Fullerton.

The victims, all employees of the university, in a variety of capacities were seven dead and two in stable condition Tuesday after being listed as extremely critical.

In custody of Fullerton police and booked on suspicion of murder was Edward Charles Allaway, 37, a library custodian at the university. Allaway was reportedly apprehended five miles away from the scene at the Hilton Inn on Raymond Avenue, Fullerton, after he called police and told them to come and pick him up.

Fullerton police authorities were offering few details on the shooting, which was thought to have been enacted with a 22 gauge rifle reportedly found later in the rear seat of the suspect's automobile.

Bodies of the dead and dying were found on the ground level of the library, where Allaway had worked for more than a year as a custodian. the basement section and two outside, who had managed to extricate themselves from the terror. Both of those victims died later at St. Jude Hospital in Fullerton.

Victims are: Stephen Becker, 32, Fullerton, a library clerk for ten years and son of Dr. Ernest Becker, professor of philosophy and former dean of students at the university.

Paul S. Herzberg, 30, Pomona, a photography instructor, at the university since 1970.

Bruce Jacobson, 32, Pomona, employed by the university for ten years and an instructor in the media center at the library.

Donald Karges, 42, Santa Fe Springs, a custodian on the campus for a year.

Deborah Paulsen, the only woman victim, 26, Anaheim, custodian and a two-year employee.

Dr. Seth Fessenden, 73, Fullerton, one of five founding professors at the university in 1959, retired for the past three years as professor emeritus of speech communications. Dr. Fessenden still taught a course at the university.

Frank Teplansky, 51, Anaheim, who died of a head wound at St. Jude's hospital. He was a graphics artist and instructor in the media center in the basement of the library building.

Two listed Monday at St. Jude's in extremely critical condition and Tuesday as stable are: Maynard Hoffman, 65, Fullerton, who underwent surgery for a chest wound. He is a supervisory custodian and an employee at the university since 1963.

Also: Dr. Donald Keran, 55, Fullerton, who also has undergone surgery. Dr. Keran is a librarian, at the university since 1961.

There were indications that more than one of the victims may have tried to halt the assailant but no details were forthcoming from Fullerton police who have the suspect in custody and report that he is undergoing extensive questioning.

Nixon Golf Date

Stroke, Publicity Cancel YL Visit

Excitement swept this city last Thursday morning when radio and television news announcements revealed that former President Richard Nixon, a Yorba Linda native, would be playing golf and speaking at a dinner on Monday, July 12.

Nixon had been invited by Congressman Charles Wiggins to play in his annual fund raising golf tournament at the Yorba Linda Country Club and then to speak at the awards dinner that evening.

The event is held by Wiggins each year to raise funds for his next election campaign. The 39th District Republican was one of the ex-president's staunchest supporters during the course of events that led to Nixon's resignation from office.

Wiggins gained nationwide attention during the debate by a Congressional committee on the possible impeachment of Nixon.

It was reported that one television program even displayed an area map explaining how to get to Yorba Linda.

A call by the Star to Wiggins' district office revealed that personnel was being besieged with inquiries by the news media and others about the pending visit.

The call also revealed that it was not supposed to be publicized and, due to the publicity, would very likely not occur.

This became a certainty later in the day when radio and television bulletins and subsequent news announcements told about the stroke suffered by Mrs. Nixon. A Friday call to the Wiggins office confirmed that the projected Yorba Linda appearance was cancelled.

There may not be another chance for Nixon to play in a Wiggins golf tourney. The congressman has announced that if he wins reelection in November it will be his last term of office.

ATTACKING FLAMES—Fireman on ladder shouts instructions as Yorba Linda and Forestry/County fire fighters fought blaze in residence at 18081 Avollinda last week. Fire sent 10 year old Donnie Dalton to hospital with second degree burns over 50 per cent of his body. His mother, Sharon, suffered minor cuts. Two other children were not hurt. Donnie was rescued from back bedroom by paramedics. Damage to the house was pegged at $20,000.

Added Funds Big Help to YLSD

Additional funds from several sources increased the budget of the Yorba Linda School District by almost $120,000 to a figure of $3,519,627 and allowed for some programs and projects to be restored to the list of expenditures.

Deputy Superintendent J. Elton Patridge detailed the income and the items on which the Board of Trustees acted to finalize the Publication Budget.

The greatest number of dollars came from a $37 per pupil increase in average daily attendance (ADA) for a projected 2,535 pupils in the district's five schools in the 1976-77 school year. This totaled $93,795.

An additional $5,906 went into the ending balance which became the beginning balance. The state allocated $13,271 for a second multi-handicapped class with the district contributing the remainder for a total of $21,338 for that class.

The extra funds will permit the district to completely re-roof rather than do a temporary repair job on three buildings at Yorba Linda Jr. High. The cost of this project is $19,000.

The board took eight other steps to improve the district. One thousand dollars was earmarked for developmental test items for Language Art objectives. Seed money for innovative programs was hiked from $500 to $3,500.

On the basis of $10 per pupil per the ADA, $25,000 was allocated on a split of $5 per pupil for books and supplies and the other $5 per pupil on capital outlay, equipment replacement and repairs, field trips and conferences.

Equipment or instruction got $4,000 from NDEA matching funds with the district also spending $4,000 in this category.

The program for blacktopping and water sealing asphalt on playgrounds at schools was doubled from $8,000 to $16,000. In anticipation of district growth, $14,000 was set aside for an additional teacher's salary.

The Nixon, Rose Drive and Paine Schools will be painted inside and outside with $8,000 being spent on paint. The work will be done by CETA employees whom the district will have until at least January 1, 1977 and who are salaried by the federal government.

Concluding the distribution of the extra funds the board placed $14,000 in the contingency emergency account.

Valuations No Help to Schools

The assumption made in the Star article in last week's edition relating to the substantial increase in property valuation in Yorba Linda that the action would be a "shot in the arm" for school districts and give them additional dollars, was quickly refuted.

J. Elton Patridge, deputy superintendent of the Yorba Linda School District, asserted that because of the provisions of SB 90 which relates to school financing by the state that when assessments increase state dollars are reduced.

Tax rates usually go down, he noted, and taxpayers are the beneficiaries. School Districts, under this formula, end up with the same number of dollars, Patridge said.

NEW SIGN—An attractive new sign has been placed on Yorba Linda Blvd. to designate the birthplace of former President Richard Nixon. It has caused much favorable comment but also has evidently attracted vandals who ripped the lettering off one side and cracked one end of the sign which has been covered with a sheet to hide the damage. [Late last week the sign was demolished when a tractor driver, working at leveling dirt on the property, lost control of the vehicle which struck and heavily damaged the sign.]

Like the mountain that labored, Yorba Linda City Council Tuesday night last week confronted momentous matters.

And, like the mouse which the mountain brought forth, the council produced a spate of referrals and continuances.

Among items continued were-- *approval of an agreement with Brea for police service over the next fiscal year;

*a proposed ordinance banning parking on city streets between 2 a.m. and 5 a.m.;

*designation of a system of "through streets" and truck routes in the city;

*establishment of a left-turn pocket for east-bound traffic on Yorba Linda Boulevard at Palm;

*establishment of stop signs at eight locations in the city and placement of a flashing yellow light on Rose adjacent to Rose Drive School; and *consideration of solicitation of the public for funds to cover construction costs of a proposed memorial to recently deceased civic leader George Machado.

Referred to the planning commission were creation of a new zoning classification intermediate between RA and RE which would allow lots ranging in size from one acre to 39,000 square feet and proposed realignment of Jefferson and other streets.

The council also directed the planning department to review a suggestion that local residents should be notified of tentative tract-map hearings for property being developed in their neighborhood.

Some things however did get done.

Approved was a proposal by Councilman Irwin M. Fried that

Letters To The Editor

Council Reprimand

Dear Sir:

I would like to take this opportunity to make my own personal comments regarding articles and statements made in last week's Star.

1. I was appalled and frustrated to see the 32.5% tax assessment jump and that our city is second only to Villa Park's increased valuation of 34%. We have been told by lenders all over Orange County that Yorba Linda is "spotty", that if our property were in Villa Park, Anaheim Hills, Tustin etc., there would be no more problem for a buyer to obtain a large loan.

It has taken months to finally reach a solution - and this solution has not been taken care of by a local bank and/or savings and loan company. We love Yorba Linda - the tax assessors obviously do too - but let it be known to all Yorba Lindans that the lenders don't think much of our city.

2. I am not familiar enough with the Yorba Linda School District to make a comment one way or the other, but I will say that it is very discouraging to realize not one Bond Issue has passed in the almost five years since my family has lived here. Though our children have not attended schools in either the Y.L.S.D. or the P.U.S.D. for the past three years, my family has always voted "YES" on each school bond issue.

The education of our children should be foremost in the minds of all. Family upon family upon family takes trips out of town for weekends or weeks - terrific, but if they can afford to do that, they can afford to put the money in our schools. I challenge them to re-assess their priorities.

3. I am delighted there will be no city tax. In a community of our size, a city tax along with county and school tax would place us in the highest paying tax community in Southern California. Not only are City Council meetings important, but the Budget Hearings should be attended by as many residents as possible. All of this talk about parks! I love parks, but have talked to many who feel that we don't need them. These people are satisfied with the community pools and playgrounds at the schools.

Among other items in the proposed budget was the outrageous fee of $500,000.00 for City Hall!!! "The doorknob is falling off" I heard at the Town Hall Meeting. It has been my understanding that Main Street is not to become a glamour street, but to maintain a rural country western style. I'm all for improvement, but let us be consistent and keep our feet on the ground, not on a plush cushion.

4. If, as stated in the Editorial Opinion column, the former city councilman "all but announced his candidacy for the next local election", I say that is wonderful! I attended the Town Hall Meetings, and this man has to be Rudy Castro. I have not discussed his goals with him; however, he will undoubtedly answer for himself as Rudy Castro is his own man.

5. An apology to the council? As I listened, I heard constructive criticism given our council members. Mr. Ashley, I do believe we should support the council simply by letting them know we are interested in what they are doing and how they are going about doing it. It is that HOW which I question.

I strongly believe that each councilman should conduct himself with the proper attitude. They sit there as though they hate each other, cannot work as a team, knock down their fellow councilman verbally every chance they get. It is my opinion that each member of our city council owes an apology to his fellow man, and then remember that yes, they are public servants.

Sincerely,
Karen Kemp

Call to Action

To The Editor:

The Senate has acted responsibly on both lobby disclosure and financial disclosure -- it passed S. 2477, a strong lobby disclosure bill, on June 15 and is expected to pass the comprehensive financial disclosure provisions of S. 495, the Watergate Reform Bill, immediately after returning from the Fourth of July recess.

(The Senate has passed financial disclosure legislation three times in the last four years only to see it die each time due to some failure of the House to take similar action.)

In the House of representatives, both lobby and financial disclosure bills are stalled in the Judiciary Committee, chaired by Rep. Peter Rodino. (Congressman Charles Wiggins is a member of the Judiciary Committee).

Both bills have substantial co-sponsorship--165 for lobby disclosure and 168 for financial disclosure -- and both have been pending before the Judiciary Committee for 17 months.

The issue in this election year is whether the reforms that so many candidates pledged themselves to in 1974 as a result of Watergate will become law in 1976.

The responsibility to make these reforms a reality falls on the House of Representatives. The House has had two years to act on these bills but has delayed until there are now less than 50 working days left in the 94th Congress with no action yet taken on either bill.

With less than 50 working days left in this session of Congress, Rep. Charles Wiggins should take a leadership role by urging Rep. Peter Rodino to do what is necessary to insure that the two bills are promptly reported by the Judiciary Committee and brought to the floor of the house.

I urge Congressman Wiggins' constituents in the 39th Congressional District to call his office, 870-7266 or write him, 1400 N. Harbor, Suite 103, Fullerton, Calif., 92635, if they feel deeply disturbed by the Judiciary Committee's inaction on these two reform bills.

ing. Employees at the university report that the assailant, carrying the rifle entered the library basement through the instructional media center where the slaughter began. Some individuals reported that they were passed by the gunman as others were fatally wounded in the barrage of shots.

Conjecture was that marital problems may have been involved in the unprecedented shootings. Allaway, reportedly left the campus and drove to the Hilton Inn, where his estranged wife is employed as a catering waitress. The shootings had occurred just before 9 a.m. in the morning.

Also on campus at the time, which may have been responsible for an unprecedented number of press in the area including television cameras, was the advent of the Los Angeles Rams, who use the school grounds as a training camp. The Rams were initiating their training sessions on campus about a block away.

"The whole campus is in shock," on employee stated. "It is hard to comprehend anything like this happening here. We still can't believe it."

Dr. Donald Shield, president of the university, has issued a statement deploring "the senseless tragedy" and expressing extreme grief for those slain and condolences to the families of the victims.

Conflict of Interest Code

Pursuant to the Political Reform Act of 1974, the Yorba Linda School District is about to commence the drafting of conflict of interest codes governing the conduct of district officials, employees, and consultants with respect to their financial interests.

The District invites the views of above-enumerated individuals as well as those of residents of the District. Contact the office of the Superintendent of Schools.

Upon receipt of a proposed code from a school district, the Board of Supervisors must, within 90 days, (a) approve it, (b) revise it and approve it as revised, or (c) return it to the school district for revision and resubmission within 60 days. S87303. If the latter procedure is implemented, the revised code must either be approved, or revised by the Board of Supervisors and approved as revised. S87303 (c).

Since the first disclosure statement by employees will be within 30 days of the effective date of approval, we recommend that the effective date of each approved code be January 1, 1977.

If, after six months from the deadline established by the Board of Supervisors, no code has been adopted for a particular school district, the Superior Court may prepare such a code and order its adoption, upon the application of almost anyone, including a "resident of the jurisdiction." S87305.

city-budget study sessions be scheduled by Feb. 25 next year and that five copies of the proposed budget be placed in the reference room of the Yorba Linda District Library for public scrutiny.

Passed on first reading was an ordinance setting a 40 mph speed limit on Rose Drive between Imperial Highway and Yorba Linda Boulevard.

Kell Christanson and Anne Barnes were named to fill vacancies on the Beautification Committee, and Bobbie Schmidt was appointed to replace Phyllis Paul on the Traffic Committee.

Conversion of an old residence on Lakeview opposite Lakeview Center to an antique store was approved with the stipulation that operation of the business was being permitted specifically for one year only.

(At the end of the year, the operator, Don Fink, may be required to make certain improvements in order to continue business.)

The council also approved soliciting further applications from the public for membership on a proposed Animal-Control-Services Task Force (only five have been received so far), as well as solicitation of applications for positions on committees to investigate park acquisition, street improvements, civic-center development, drainage, trails, and other city concerns.

Applications should be submitted to City Manager Arthur Simonian. (Change of Simonian's title from City Administrator was also effected Tuesday night.)

Bee's Snub 'Red Tape'

Donald W. Todd has a bee in his bonnet.

"You just can't go outside during the day. I've had to give up using my swimming pool." So Todd told Yorba Linda City Council June 21.

Todd, of 17971 Bastanchury Road, is allergic to bee stings. And a neighbor of his has some hives. So Todd told the council of his hardship and asked something be done.

The council referred the problem to the Planning Commission, who, expressing concern for the safety of residents who like Todd are allergic to stings, concluded that since bee-keeping seemed to be legal at present in residential zones, something should be done.

What the commission recommended was enactment of a temporary urgency ordinance barring the keeping of hives, pending study and passage presumably of a permanent prohibition.

Tuesday night last week City Council got the ordinance.

Leonard Hampel, city attorney, was not impressed. "I can find no grounds for an urgency measure," he said. Warning that legal action could result if a business were affected by the ordinance, Hampel suggested the matter be returned to the planning commission for public hearing.

That, he said, should remove the danger of lawsuits.

Finally, noting that bee-keeping has been done in the city for a long time, the council agreed. Back the ordinance went.

Barring difficulties, Hampel predicted that measure could become law in three months.

And so, the following evening, Don Todd went outside--perhaps the better to contemplate the grinding speed of the wheels of the gods--and got stung by a bee.

Later (much later), having made two trips to the hospital for shots, he was about as good as new.

Well, nearly.

Garner to Fairmont

John Garner, a special education teacher at McFadden Elementary School, has been named assistant principal at Fairmont. He will assume his new post working with Principal Gordon McKay in August.

Garner, 29, has been a special education teacher in the district since 1969, working as a speech specialist and a teacher of aphasia before becoming McFadden's resource teacher for educationally handicapped/learning disabled students last year. He has been vice president and president of Placentia Unified Education Association. Before coming to the Placentia district, he worked as a speech pathologist at Children's Hospital in Orange.

Garner has been in the district's management intern program during the past year training for an administrative position.

by Jim Arkison

I nearly got me a horse the other night, two of them in fact. I also had me a couple of riders, too. When I say "got" I don't mean "buy". I mean "hit".

Just as some vehicle drivers violate the laws and rules of the road, some horse riders are as equally guilty in regards to regulations concerning them and their animals.

Horses are not supposed to be ridden on city streets but kids on vacation are doing just that. They are seen frequently in the central business district.

I was going west on Lakeview after dark and saw the headlights of an approaching car so I moved as far right as I could go. Just as the other car drew almost abreast of me I had to swerve suddenly to the left, forcing the other motorist to execute a similar maneuver.

The reason I had to swerve was that two young girls on horseback loomed up right in front of me. Because of the approaching car I could not turn on my highbeams and only saw the horses and riders just in the nick of time to avoid them. I nearly caused an accident but everything turned out OK.

Neither the riders nor the horses had any light colored markings which would have signified their presence. Sounding my horn might have startled the animals. All in all, it was a hairy few seconds. I just hope the other driver saw the horses and riders and realized what made me swerve towards him at that moment.

There is another fascinating yet potentially tragic drama that unfolds practically every day at the intersection of Imperial and Main Street.

When the fire horn sounds I can lean back in my desk chair and watch that intersection through the window. Sometimes the fire apparatus comes down Main Street and the drama begins.

Despite the soundings of sirens and the wailing truck horn, along with the flashing lights, many motorists completely ignore the approach of the trucks. It may be because they have the windows closed and the air conditioning on in their vehicles or that they have the car radio playing.

Whatever the reason, in almost every instance, the fire trucks have to give way to the other traffic rather than the opposite happening which, incidentally, is the law.

One of these times there is going to be a horrendous accident involving the fire trucks. I keep the camera loaded with film and handy and when it does happen we'll have the photos to publish in the paper.

I don't know if it will help but I have noticed that in some places where fire stations are on busy streets there are traffic signals which firemen can activate to halt traffic when they get a call. Other places have a rotating red light with a sign "Fire Trucks Approaching" at intersections similar to Imperial and Main. Perhaps something like that could be considered here.

We've all experienced one of those situations when something looked simple on the surface and suddenly pyramided into a completely out of hand happening. Example.

The husband of a Star staffer won a goldfish for his little boy at a Fourth of July event. "Freddie", the name the boy gave the goldfish naturally had to have a companion.

"Charlie" was purchased but quickly died. "Charlie II" suffered a similar fate. Then the real fun began. An aquarium and eight exotic fishes were bought to keep "Freddie" company. One flopped out of the tank and was found hours later on the kitchen floor, deader than (excuse the pun) a mackerel.

The adventure entailed buying and reading books on the care of fishes, talking at length with a pet store owner about the subject, setting up the aquarium and sundry other facets of the entire operation.

Gift Giving Aids Schools

One of the incongruities related to the support of schools and school districts is the failure, on one hand, of the public to pass bond issues and tax revenue increases at elections, and, on the other hand, to be very generous with gifts to schools and districts.

These inconsistencies have astonished school board members and administrators alike. Recently officials of the two districts which serve Yorba Linda, the YLSD and the Placentia Unified School District, have commented on the number of gifts and the monetary value of them.

The Yorba Linda School District, at recent meetings accepted two 15 gallon Evergreen Pear trees, check for $50 for landscaping, check for $721.77 for playground equipment and SRA kits, a tape recorder, a $850 mimeograph machine, a bicentennial flag and a plant.

These were donated by businesses, individuals, PTA's, student body, faculty and service clubs.

The PUSD noted that during the school year gifts worth more than $40,000 in material and equipment from individuals, businesses and parent support groups were received.

In addition, there were many other gifts without a cash value such as a freezer and refrigerator, trombone and tape recorder. One PTA donated an $1,107 laminating machine and a booster group gave a scoreboard valued at $1,700.

Sports Medicine Symposium

Coaches and trainers who work with youthful athletes will learn how to protect young team members during a special program to be held at Orthopaedic Hospital, Friday, July 23, and Saturday, July 24.

Presented primarily by physicians who specialize in treating sports-related injuries, Orthopaedic Hospital's Sports Medicine Symposium is conducted annually and consists of slides, lectures, films and demonstrations.

The program is designed to teach athletic personnel working with young people how to prevent injuries through proper conditioning and training, and how to recognize and cope with injuries that may occur on the playing field.

Over 200 southern California high school and junior college coaches and trainers, school nurses, and non-school-affiliated coaches from YMCAs, Little League and Pop Warner teams are expected to attend the symposium this year.

Pop Warner Expands

In the July 6th Board meeting another Midget team was added to the Placentia-Yorba Linda Pop Warner League. Due to heavy registration and the philosophy of Pop Warner not to cut boys, another team was added.

This new expansion has created openings at the Midget level and registration is being taken for boys of ages 11, 12, 13, and 14 weighing 90-125 pounds. Fourteen year olds cannot weigh more than 114 pounds.

Hurry and get your registration in before the 2nd team fills up. Also there is still some openings in the Junior Midget teams for boys of ages 10, 11, 12, and 13 weighing 80-110 pounds. Thirteen year olds cannot weigh more than 89 pounds.

For more information on registration, call Bert Williams, 524-6460, Eloy Chavez, 524-6898, or Bill Simmons, 528-6916.

Speakers this year include: Frank W. Jobe, M.D., team orthopaedist, L.A. Dodgers; Philip H. McFarland, M.D., team physician at Fullerton Jr. College and orthopaedic consultant to Cal State Fullerton; Vic Braden, tennis coach at The Vic Braden Tennis College; Richard Llewellyn, athletic director, Los Angeles Athletic Club; Tony Russo, athletic trainer, Citrus College and head trainer for the L.A. Times Indoor Games and the 1968 U.S. Olympic Track Team.

Other speakers are: Roger Katz, M.D., pediatrician who will talk about athletics and the asthmatic child; Charles R. Ashworth, M.D., orthopaedist with practice limited to hand injuries; Peter Dyck, M.D., neurosurgeon, who will discuss head and neck injuries; James Kleckner, M.D., ophthalmologist, who will discuss eye injuries; William S. Stryker, M.D., orthopaedist, who will cover fractures, and Robert K. Gustafson, M.D., orthopaedist, will discuss spinal curvature problems in young athletes.

The symposium, scheduled for all day Friday, July 23, and half a day on Saturday, July 24, will be held in the hospital's Andrew Norman Memorial Hall, 2400 S. Flower St., Los Angeles.

There is no registration fee, but reservations are required due to limited space.

Hole-in-One

Margo Hammond of 19812 Riverview Drive, Yorba Linda, is eligible to win a free trip to Scotland and $1,000 as a result of scoring a hole-in-one at the Imperial Golf Course.

Ms. Hammond's ace qualified her for the 15th annual Rusty Nail Hole-in-One Sweepstakes, a national competition sponsored by the Drambuie Company of Edinburgh, Scotland. The winner will be announced early next year.

Rose Bowl Classic Set

Fifty-six of Southern California's most outstanding pre-college football players will compete in the 25th Annual Shrine Football Game at the Rose Bowl on Saturday, July 17. Pre-game pageantry begins at 7 p.m.; kick-off is at 8 p.m.

Of the many talented athletes who have played in the Shrine classic, 32 have gone on to earn college All-American honors, including Heisman Trophy winners John Huarte of Notre Dame (now a Placentia resident); Mike Garrett of USC and Jim Plunkett of Stanford. All proceeds from the game, which is sponsored annually by the Al Malaikah Shrine Temple, will go to support the Los Angeles unit of the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children.
